THE PRESIDENT'S POST

Nick Brancato Jr.
President

Hello Cosmos Club Member(s)!

As we enter the Christmas season, we are reminded of the values that define us—not only as members of the Cosmos Club, but as Italian-Americans rooted in faith, family, and tradition. Christmas is a time when our homes are filled with warmth, our tables are surrounded by loved ones, and our hearts are called to give to others.

For Italians, Christmas is more than a single day—it is a season of togetherness, reflection, and generosity. It is found in shared meals, cherished traditions passed down through generations, and in the simple act of opening our doors and our hearts to those around us. These same principles are at the foundation of our Club and guide everything we do.

This time of year also reminds us of the importance of giving back. Whether through acts of kindness, charitable efforts, or supporting one another, the spirit of Christmas calls us to look beyond ourselves and help those in need. I am proud of the compassion and generosity our members consistently demonstrate, especially during the holiday season.

During this Christmas season, a small group of Cosmos Club members, together with Father Sam, had the privilege of visiting the Santucci Family to share a few traditional Christmas carols and offer a blessing in the spirit of hope and comfort. It was a quiet and deeply meaningful moment that reminded us how powerful simple acts of kindness can be. Each family's circumstances are unique, and challenges touch lives in different ways, but coming together with compassion, faith, and presence can bring light during difficult times. This visit reflected the true spirit of the season—standing alongside those in need, offering warmth, prayer, and a reminder that they are not alone.

When gathering for Christmas events, I encourage everyone to embrace the true meaning of the season—faith, family, tradition, and service to others. Together, we continue to strengthen the bond of brotherhood that makes the Cosmos Club such a special community.

On behalf of the Executive Board, I wish you and your families a Christmas filled with peace, good health, and joy.

Buon Natale e Felice Anno Nuovo!

Best Regards,
